

The Vizcaya Village

The Vizcaya Village is an original part of James Deering's winter estate. In the 1910s and 1920s, laborers, gardeners and various staff lived and worked throughout the Village. Produce, along with fresh milk and eggs from the cows and chickens onsite, supported a farm-to-table lifestyle. Today, the Village represents Miami's past and holds the promise of Miami's future. Plans to restore the Village will create new classrooms, greenhouses and urban farming models to transform and expand Vizcaya as a cultural hub. Visit the Village today and learn more about Vizcaya's future. Become a member and enjoy Vizcaya all year.
